Dear Sally,

Since moving to Canada, do you spend your days like this? Reading over the bills many times to understand all the details. Asking for directions of the bus route but you wander anyways. Watching a TV show but you don't know why the jokes are funny. Looking for a place to call home but it's too hard to tell others what you want. Searching for a job but you don't know where to begin. Wanting to talk about your day but you can't use the right English words to describe it.

If you find yourself in these situations, let us at the Kitchener-Waterloo Multicultural Centre help you. We are a settlement agency and we help new Canadians in the Waterloo Region like you to find a new home, a job and live your life the way you want. Our interpreters can speak over 65 languages so do not worry if your English is not great. Plus, all our services are completely free!

The KWMC will help you find your dream home. Our staff works with you on the search to match your needs. Maybe you want a cozy condo, a hillside house or an amazing apartment. Whatever you imagine as your home, we will do our best to help you make that real.
